

the handwriting he identified the signature of "Mr. T. G. MacDougal." To make certain, he waited until the object of his search walked into the lobby, and a house detective identified Avery. It then came to light that MacDougal and Avery were the same man, and his arrest followed.

Last night Chief of Police Werner received the following telegram from the William J. Burns Detective Agency, in New York:

"T. J. Avery wanted here. Charge petit larceny. Cannot extradite. Has also passed checks in Philadelphia and Washington."

What They Told Police.
Captain of Detectives McMahon, who notified the police of other city Avery's arrest, with the hope of learning his record, said that he expected to hear that he is wanted in numerous cities.

Mr. Edwards informed the police that Avery had told him he was engaged in the brokerage business in New York with his brother, under the firm name of "MacDougal & Company," and said his office was located at East Fortified street.

Mrs. Avery told the officers that she thought her husband was a broker. She also informed them that he was a good singer, and showed them a newspaper account of a rehearsal he gave at the home of his cousin, Harry Frost, in Altoona, Pa.

When Avery was searched at the Second Police Station, he had with him several bank and check books.

CONDITIONS ATTACKED

Report Made on California Hop Fields at Time of Riot.

Washington, February 8.—A report on the conditions existing in California hop fields at the time of the fatal riot at Wheatlands, today was made public by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The report, submitted to the commission by Carlton Parker, secretary of the California Immigration Commission, who was engaged as a special investigator, bitterly attacks conditions in the hop fields, declaring wages and living conditions contribute to the strength of the Industrial Workers of the World, and their revolutionary doctrines.

Chairman Frank P. Walsh announced that a searching investigation will be made by the commission to find out if conditions disclosed in the hop fields exist to any extent in other places where migratory labor is predominant. The commission's investigator said:

"There is a definite and increasing danger in California in the propagandizing of the Industrial Workers of the World. This epidemics, I am sure, almost fatally underestimated."

GLYNN TO CONFER WITH PRESIDENT

Governor and McCombs Will Discuss Reorganization of New York Democracy.

Washington, February 8.—Governor Glynn, of New York, accompanied by William F. McCombs, Democratic national chairman, arrived here today for a conference with President Wilson to-morrow on questions affecting the reorganization of the Empire State's Democracy. Indications are that the conference will have an important effect on the future trend of Democratic politics in that State.

With members of Congress and a United States Senator to be elected there next fall, President Wilson has been giving much attention to the New York State situation since his recent talk with Chairman McCombs. Mr. McCombs recently visited Albany and immediately afterwards, came to Washington for a long talk with the President. He was away declaring his confidence in Governor Glynn as worthy of White House support. To-morrow's conference was arranged for at that time.

It is known that the national administration anxiously to build up New York State as a new organization, and that it will look for assistance from Mayor Mitchell, of New York, and Governor Glynn. Just how the intended plan of reorganization when worked out, will affect Charles F. Murphy and the Tammany organization is one of the things that is expected to be made clear after the conference.

FIND GIRLS AT SERVICE

Legislative Committee Visits Home Near Bon Air Without Notice.

Several members of the House of Delegates yesterday afternoon visited the Virginia Home and Industrial School for Girls in Chesterfield County, a bill for the suppression of which is now pending before the House Committee on Asylums and Prisons. The visitors dropped in unannounced, without having given previous notice, and were cordially received. They attended a Sunday afternoon service at which the girls took part in singing, Scripture recitations and other exercises. Members of the party last night expressed themselves as much pleased with the neat appearance of the place, and the excellent care and attention given to the inmates. They admitted, however, that they could see how objection might be made by Mr. Cline and others in the immediate vicinity, to the location of the institution.

The program includes a parade, a reception by President Wilson at the White House, an address on "Democracy" by Secretary of State Bryan, past chancellor of the Pythian lodge at Lincoln, Neb., and speeches by many prominent Pythians.

Thomas J. Carling, of Macon, Ga., the supreme chancellor, will give the special ritualistic service, assisted by officers of the supreme lodge.

BANK WILL REOPEN

Declared Insolvent "In View of Defaults of the President, C. H. Raine."

Memphis, Tenn., February 8.—Directors of the Mercantile Bank declared one of the strongest financial institutions of this city, to-night declared the bank insolvent, and ordered that its doors remain closed to-morrow.

Resolutions adopted by the directors declared this action necessary "in view of the defaults of the president, C. H. Raine, this day of February 8, 1914. As attorneys were authorized to file a petition in bankruptcy to-morrow for the conservation of the assets of the bank."

Mr. Raine, it is stated, has turned over all his personal estate, estimated at about $400,000, to the bank. He declined to make any statement to-day. No authoritative statement has been made of the amount of the alleged defaults.

The Mercantile Bank was capitalized at $200,000 and had a surplus of $100,000. The last statement published on January 6, showed deposits of $1,861,097.67; undivided profits, $37,431.86; and bills payable of $22,000. Of the resources, loans and discounts were stated to be $1,130,400; overdrafts, $13,820; banking house, $134,000; actual cash, $424,781; due from banks and bankers, $488,161; exchanges for clearing-house, $54,807; checks and cash items, $572; cash items in transit, $127,778. Other items of resources bring the total to $2,343,097.

Representatives of other banks in the city agreed to-night that as the troubles of the Mercantile Bank are due to the alleged default and not to general business conditions, the institution will not be affected by the closing of its doors.

Officials of the Mercantile Bank declined to-night to state the amount of the alleged shortage, but bankers close to the directors of the institution estimated that it will be between $300,000 and $500,000. All of the bank's books are under a tight lock, and they cannot be reached before to-morrow.

Mr. Raine's alleged default is said to have been a speculation, in which he has lost heavily within the last thirty to sixty days. A State examiner is expected to leave for Nashville to investigate the bank's affairs.

Attorneys prepared a petition to-night to be presented to Chancellor Heiskell early to-morrow asking that a receiver be appointed.

Besides Mr. Raine, the officers of the bank are: J. F. Powhles and Luke E. Wright, vice-presidents; and Claude Anderson, cashier. The directorate includes half a dozen of the wealthiest men in Memphis.

The principal out-of-town connections of the bank are in New York and St. Louis.

Mr. Raine entered the bank as a clerk about thirty years ago and advanced to the presidency in 1903. After serving three years he resigned, but became president again the following year. At one time Mr. Raine was the owner of a large stable of trotting horses.

stitutionalist general of his intention to assist in fixing responsibility for the tragedy at Cumbo tunnel, in which several Americans were suffocated. General Villa has complied with the request of the State Department that a guard of soldiers accompany the rescue party to recover the bodies of the dead Americans. recognizing neither Huerta nor Carranza. He was the bodyguard of Maximo Castillo, the latter took the field against Diaz.

Word to-day was received here that Charles Myers, Dobson, American, formerly a newspaper man, was imprisoned in Torreon. Secretary Bryan dispatched a request to the American consul there for information.

In Straits for Fuel Supply.
Veracruz, February 8.—The straits to which the Mexican government is reduced for fuel with which to continue the operation of the National Railway lines is shown by the commanding officer, virtually the whole of the supply of Veracruz. This threatens the early suspension of traffic between Veracruz and the capital.

The government last night sent a train of eighteen oil cars to Veracruz. Today an officer, at the head of a squad of troops, made a formal demand on the agent of the Agula Company and insisted that it was immaterial to whom the oil belonged.

There now remains in the Vera Cruz only a six-day supply of oil for the operation of the Mexican and Intercontinental Railways, and there is no prospect of receiving more oil from Tampico. It is believed it will be impossible to maintain the operation of the capital beyond the end of the week, except in the case of trains for government service.

It is asserted that the next move of the Mexican government will be to reopen the line of communication. Mexico City, February 8.—President Huerta in the past week has succeeded, without much fighting, in reopening the lines of communication to Tampico and Laredo between Saltillo and Torreon. This apparent advantage is explained to some extent by the fact that rebels have received instructions to cease operating in small bands in those districts, where they had been persistently cutting the line and looting the concentration movements near Torreon and about Tampico.

Indications are that there will be a lull in military operations until the rebels have supplied themselves with additional arms and ammunition, and that when General Carranza and Villa and other rebel leaders have completed their preparations for an advance several important engagements will be fought.

In the isthmus of Tehuantepec, and in the regions adjoining the capital, numerous rebel organizations are operating. Perhaps the most dangerous rebel operation comparatively close to the capital is that directed by General Francisco Lucas, popularly called "The Patriarch of the Sierra Indiana." These Indians control a large area, for the rebel forces in the State of Puebla, which has 6,000 men at Torreon and 4,000 at Monterey. At Tampico the Federal garrison is approximately 2,000, and always there remains the waterway from Veracruz to reinforce Tampico. Huerta has declared he will continue to send troops to Torreon until the garrison there numbers at least 10,000.

Rebels May be Checked.
Military men profess to doubt whether the rebels can take Torreon, even after they obtain ammunition. Not a few are of the opinion that the rebels are likely to be checked both at Torreon and at Tampico.

President Huerta's calm attitude after the lifting of the embargo on arms seems to have gained him some sympathy among the people of Mexico. It is believed he has slightly more favorable prospects of obtaining money, without foreign assistance, than he was able to secure from local sources many millions.

Owners of haciendas adjoining the State of Mexico have been notified that they will be expected to loan the government money on their land, and it will cause no surprise if special taxes were imposed on all property in the capital and other cities which Huerta still controls.

The opinion is held here that rebels in the north will direct their energies along two lines of campaign, one looking to the capture of Torreon, Zacatecas, Aguascalientes and other towns on the path to the capital, and the other to the capture of Tampico, with Monterey and San Luis Potosi as secondary objectives.

Not a few are of the opinion that the rebels will be able to secure military aid from the United States, and that the moral effect of the capture of Torreon and other towns along the first line of campaign would be great, but military men point out that the strategic value of Tampico

It is reported that a decree has been prepared and only awaits the President's signature, doubling duties on all imports from the United States. Two United States cruiser Des Moines to-day arrived here. After coaling she will proceed to Tampico.
